Degree requires 69 – 72 semester hours. Through the bridging program, currently credentialed EMT-Paramedics receive 42 semester hours of advanced placement. The remaining course work to complete the A.A.S. in Emergency Medical Science requires 27-30 additional semester hours of work outlined above. Students must take 18 hours from the required courses to meet the residency requirements of DCCC, or challenge exams in EMS prefix courses for residency hour requirements. Students may transfer in up to 14 semester hours required for the degree.
